BAMSI Hosts Virtual Event
“Mental Health Matters: Time to Talk, Time to Listen”

The event will be hosted by ‘The Voice of the Patriots’ Bob Socci and held on Wednesday, May 19th at 6 pm on Zoom and Facebook Live.

In honor of May being “Mental Health Awareness” month, BAMSI is thrilled to be hosting a unique virtual event that will tell real stories of individuals who have faced adversity and challenges in their own mental health experiences. Through this event, BAMSI seeks to address the stereotypes surrounding mental health and normalizing asking for help. We are so thankful to Jordan’s Furniture for their sponsorship and continued support of BAMSI.

Patriots Play-by-Play Voice Bob Socci will moderate a one-hour discussion with a panel of four individuals who will share their stories of lived experience with mental health issues.

“It is time to talk and time to listen,” said BAMSI CEO Peter Evers. “The stories will be moving and real, with the expressed intention to create a dialogue in our communities about mental health. The need to create a system where parity exists between physical and mental health is real.”

The virtual event will begin at 6 pm on Wednesday on May 19th with the public being encouraged to register to ask questions or engage in the dialogue.

Register at bamsi.info/MentalHealthMatters. It will also stream live at facebook.com/BAMSIservices
